Summary

description

English: Figure 6 Small-scale faulting in UK Coal Measures. Faults at A, B, and C are clearly visible on a reflection strength plot. Faults A and B have throws of 7m to 10m and have been proved in adjacent mine workings, and Fault C has a throw of approximately 15m. Fault D shows no displacement of the reflector but has been intersected by a mine roadway and is known to have a throw of 2.9m. The low-amplitude zone marked Z is on the alignment of a channel, which cuts into top of the seam farther south.
